

DRAMA DOCTORS

Reach All, Teach All Discipline K-12

OBJECTIVES

Effective discipline is rooted in understanding and communication. This workshop introduces educators to the Process Communication Model (PCM) as a powerful framework for enhancing classroom management and promoting positive behavior. PCM provides insights into individual personality types, communication preferences, and motivational needs, enabling educators to tailor their approach to discipline and create meaningful connections with students. Through interactive activities, role-playing scenarios, and practical strategies, participants will learn how to apply PCM principles to address behavior issues, build rapport with students, and cultivate a supportive and inclusive learning environment.

- Understand the key principles and concepts of the Process Communication Model (PCM) and its relevance to classroom management.
- Explore how PCM can be used to identify and address the underlying needs and motivations driving student behavior.
- Learn practical strategies and techniques for applying PCM principles to discipline practices and communication with students.
- Develop personalized discipline plans that integrate PCM strategies and meet the diverse needs of students.

WORKSHOP FORMAT:

The workshop will feature a combination of presentations, interactive demonstrations, role-playing exercises, and collaborative planning sessions. Participants will have opportunities to practice PCM techniques, share insights and experiences, and develop personalized discipline plans.

TARGET AUDIENCE:

This workshop is suitable for educators, school administrators, counselors, and support staff who are responsible for implementing discipline practices and creating positive learning environments.

DURATION:

The workshop can be customized to fit different timeframes, ranging from a Two-day session to multi-day institute format, depending on the needs and preferences of the participants.

EXPECTED OUTCOMES:

By the end of the workshop, participants will have gained a deeper understanding of how to effectively apply PCM principles to discipline practices. They will leave with practical strategies and techniques to create a positive and inclusive learning environment where students feel understood, valued, and supported.
